Detailed Itinerary:

Phnom Tamao is Cambodia's foremost wildlife rescue center and zoo. It is located 1 hour drive south-east of Phnom Penh and occupies a total space of about 1,200 hectares. It is home to the world's largest captive collections of Pileated Gibbons and Malaysian Sun Bears. Other rare species such as Siamese Crocodiles and Greater Adjutant Storks also can be observed here. A large number of the animals found here are endangered species and many of them have been rescued out of the hands of poachers or from being held as pets. Phnom Tamao with its spacious grounds, large animal enclosures and excellent caretakers is a refreshing change from some of the lesser equipped and cramped zoos elsewhere. Phnom Tamao is a great outing, especially for family with kids. There is also elephant paint and elephant play soccer on some occasion in the park. Your guide will tell you all about the background of the animals and how they have been rescued.
